DESCRIPTION OF CONTEST: This IBM sponsored Contest is a limited participation, invite only, skill contest for students attending college in the Chicago Metro area. Minors are not eligible to participate. Sponsor will require one team member to be the liaison for the team to be the primary point of contact for the team during the Contest. Each student and teams may be collectively referred to herein as Participant or referred to individually as applicable.

The Contest is designed for Participants to create, optimize, and develop--using the provided Artificial Intelligence (“AI”), or Cloud -- a compelling solution to address the challenge they present (“Entry” or “solution”). Sponsor will invest in (1) overall winning Entry with a grant to the applicable non-profit institution (Wildlife Habitat Council) (valued at approximately up to $50,000) for a one-to-two-week internship tailored specifically to focus on the education challenge and endeavor to implement the solution (“IBM Education Grant” or “Grant”). This is a grant of cash only to support the overall competition and a two-week internship experience for the winning team.

Competition consists of two rounds. Round I consists of completion of various tech competency modules and online submission of a formal Challenge Proposal within the time specified (“Proposal”) on the basis of which four (4) teams will be selected as finalists using the applicable judging criteria for the opportunity to further compete in the Challenge (“Finalists”). Finalist teams will then give a timed, oral presentation to the judges (“Presentation”) who will evaluate the Presentations from each team based on the applicable judging criteria to select one (1) winning team. Grant will not be awarded to the student/teams, but to Wildlife Habitat Council through the IBM Education Grant process.

Completion of the registration process, online modules, project proposals, submission of Challenge, submission of Proposal, and final selections (and all content, ideas and concepts included therein) constitute an Entry into this Contest and are all required (as applicable). In the Contest, or any part thereof, if any Finalist or other Participant is suspected of cheating or artifice, or engages in behavior that, as determined by Sponsor (or its designee) in their absolute discretion, is disrespectful, obnoxious or threatening, dangerous, unsafe, harmful, illegal or that is intended to annoy, abuse, threaten or harass any other person,

All costs, fees, and expenses of attendance incurred by Participant to participate in the Contest will be supported at the discretion of Wildlife Habitat Council (“host organization”).
